

Di Benedetto Builders completed a new home for us on Lake Road in Bay Village, Ohio in 2003. They gave us the names of three different landscapers to consider. As we studied the possibilities, a common set of comments came back to us regarding one of the three. This company wasn't overly "flashy" but their planning was thorough and the finished product would be in good taste. They show up when promised and stay with it until the job is completed. Their price is fair. This company was VARGA LANDSCAPING. We were also impressed that Rick Varga, the owner, not only takes continuing education classes but also is teaching courses in Horticulture at Ohio State and Cleveland State Universities. We are very pleased with our finished product.
